Welcome to my book of writing from the time I was stuck at home hiding from the Coronavirus. What an unusual time it's been! My life changed from going to school every week-day, to spending time at home with my family all day every day.

It's been a really interesting time because I have been doing things that I have never done before. One thing I have done while I was at home was make something out of wood. I made a key holder where you can put your keys after you have gone somewhere.

I've really enjoyed spending time with my family and doing things I have not done before, adapting to new things. But there are still things I miss such as seeing my friends on a daily basis and seeing them outside of school. The pieces of writing I've included are called My Friend, Stop Banana Stop, My Dog Sammy, The Goblin and The NBA Finals. They are a mix of narratives, recounts and more. The things I write about in these texts are mostly narratives and recounts. The ones I liked to write about is my dog Sammy because he is our family dog, he is so cute and I love him. My best two writing pieces are My Dog Sammy and the Stop Banana Stop because in My dog Sammy I use good word choices and lots of them, and in the Stop Banana Stop I also used great words and really took my time to write it all down. I'd like to thank my Mum and Dad because they are the ones who try to make us better people and they make me dinner and look after me. I hope you enjoy my collection of 'Coronavirus Writing'! Let's hope I never have to write in isolation like that again!

Bridey is a one-in-a-million friend. When she calls me, I know it's her right away when I hear, "Hey you! Get up. It's Saturday morning and... the buzzing beat of the phone bounced me out of my bed. It was Bridey, she wanted to awaken me from my wild and silly dreams to get moving. Our plan for the day, was to head to the food court and get one of the special limited edition, delicious chocolate muffins. This muffin was like no other, the best in town. Light and fluffy and packed full with three types of chocolate - white, dark and milk. My mouth was watering just thinking about it.

Stop Banana Stop

Smack. Squish. Slop. That's what it sounds like when my little brother devours bananas. I think it's horrid to hear the pulverising of the mushy banana mixing with his saliva. It sends shivers through my body and makes the blood in my veins boil every time I am hear him. I must look like a kettle that has reached boiling point, steam escaping out of my nose and ears. Stop....please just stop. I walk away in frustration with heavy steps.

My Dog Sammy

In my backyard is my greyhound named Sammy. Sammy is 8 years old, he is completely Black apart from a few Grey hairs on his chin.

He wears a green collar which over the years has faded and frayed. Even though he is 8 years old, he acts like a puppy still.

He does this by jumping and running around in circles, he gets very excited when he sees his lead because he knows it's time for a walk. His legs are long and fine which helps him run faster, he doesn't carry much weight compared to other dogs his size.

The Goblin

It was one scary night and the goblin had me in his house. I was scared I couldn't bear to look at the goblins face. He was hideous, he looked angry. He had teeth like fangs and he was wrinkled on his forehead. He was so small I could just step on him. I didn't know how I was going to get out of there but I had a plan. The goblin had the key so I was going to have to get the key off him. I needed him to get close to me and then get the key and then run out of this horrible place. I went for it. I asked the goblin to come over to me, but he asked "Why?" and I said because I had something for him. The goblin walked over to me and slapped me in the face. He knew, my plan was ruined. I was stuck here forever. There was no way to escape. That was my only chance, I needed that key. I had to think of another plan to get out of there and there had to be another way out. Then all of a sudden I heard a noise. It was the key, it was right there. I was almost in range of getting it but I needed a few more inches longer. Then I saw a stick in my cage, and then I grabbed the key, untied the cage, and snuck out of that horrid place. When I got out I said to myself never take free candy from a little goblin ever again.

I had found myself with the ball and the seconds were counting down 8,7,6,5. So I shot the ball for three to put the Milwaukee Bucks back in the lead and to win the NBA finals. The crowd held their breath as the ball was dancing around the ring, but then the ball dribbled through. We did it we had won the NBA finals with a shot at the buzzer, the crowd were chanting George,George,George until i realised it was my dad trying to wake me up because we were going to the milwaukee bucks vs Los angeles lakers game in LA.I was excited to go because I wanted to met Giannis Antetokounmpo who is my favourite player because he was having an amazing season so far.

When we got to the game it was full of lakers fans, I was nervous that the bucks were going to lose because it would be a bad ride home. The game got started and the lakers got home to a hot start early and the scores were 28-8 towards the end of the 1st quarter but that's when something bad happened. Giannis Antetokunmpo was hurt and went straight to the physio and that's when things got really bad. By the end of the first quarter it was 35-12, Lakers were up by a bit and the bucks needed a comeback in the second quarter.

That didn't look likely when LeBron James started scoring like crazy. At half time the lakers were up by 45 points at the break. My dad said one more quarter and if they don't come back we're leaving. When the third term started I was surprised and amazed to see Giannis Antetokunmpo back on the court. Now back on the court Giannis was destroying everybody. He had some crazy dunks and now half way through the last quarter the scores were lakers 97 to bucks 89. The game was tight as the bucks were on the charge to hopefully win an incredible game after they were down by a lot early in the first half. It was now in the last minute and the Lakers were up by 2 points and it was the bucks ball. Giannis had the ball, he drove down the lane and then he dunked it. The scores were now even 89-89...
